Background & Experience

A Wisconsin native and graduate of UW-Milwaukee, Amy brings more than 15 years of marketing and public relations experience to Greywolf Partners. Supporting all divisions of the company, she is responsible for the strategic planning and management of all marketing activities.

Prior to joining Greywolf, Amy has worked in and lead marketing in a variety of different fields including healthcare, education, legal, and both commercial and residential real estate. She has worked on both local and national initiatives, providing strategy for campaign creation and deployment for new business development, and has directed internal and external communications, website management and social media efforts.

She's passionate about real estate marketing and the ever-evolving nature of the business. No two days are the same, and that's what she loves.

Memberships: American Marketing Association

Other: Outside of work, Amy enjoys spending time with her husband and two energetic dogs. She also enjoys traveling, attending sporting events to cheer on her favorite Wisconsin sports teams - The Brewers, Packers and Marquette basketball, as well as playing in a summer community band.
