Background & Experience

Jimmy joined NAI Earle Furman in 1998 and focuses on sales and leasing of retail and investment properties. Over the years, Jimmy has worked with many national, local and regional retailers such as Wendy's, Publix, Urban Nirvana, and 9Round. Through those relationships and others, he has worked with a multitude of developers and property owners throughout the southeast and has assisted many of them in selling multiple assets ranging from single tenant to multi-tenant anchored centers. A sampling of those transactions include freestanding Hobby Lobby's in North and South Carolina, freestanding Wendy's in South Carolina, North Carolina and Alabama and Publix anchored centers in South Carolina. Active in the International Council of Shopping Centers (ICSC), Jimmy has served on the program committee for Carolina's Idea Exchange.

Jimmy is also a member of the Franchise Real Estate Services division that provides outsourced real estate services to Franchisors and their Franchisees and helps clients source locations, execute leases, prepare for openings, and expertly navigate the real estate process. Since 2016, the Franchise Real Estate Services division has completed transactions in 30 different states and Canada and works with a variety of clients such as ARCpoint Labs, Urban Nirvana, and 9Round.

A graduate of Clemson University, Jimmy has served on the local Greenville Clemson Club and is a past president. Also, he served as President of the Greenville High School All Sports Booster Club and is currently serving on Greenville County YMCA metro board of directors.
